Recommendations for Employers of Nannies Returning to Work in Response to COVID-19

1. Explicitly discuss your concerns and any new expectations with your nanny. E.g. Do you feel that walks around the neighborhood are still okay?

2. Conduct daily health checks: inform your nanny not to show-up at work if he/she is not feeling well or experiencing: fever, cough, fatigue.

3. Conduct a hazard assessment of the workplace: have surfaces cleaned regularly with sanitizing agents, such as disinfecting wipes or spray.

4. To protect yourself and your employee, have your face covered with a cloth facial mask and ask your nanny to wear a cloth facial mask while working inside your home.

5. Avoid unnecessary close contact and wash your hands thoroughly with soap for at least 20 seconds every hour or more often, if necessary.

6. Improve the air quality inside your home/nanny's workplace: allow fresh air into the home by opening windows daily.

7. Minimize your risk of exposure to Covid-19: keep social distance outside your home and encourage your nanny to do the same.
